I AM NEW TO TREATMENT

What would make a treatment feel manageable for you?

- I feel supported and in control.
- It fits into my daily routine easily.
- It's simple to take and remember.

What parts of starting treatment feel hard or uncertain?

- I might forget to take it sometimes.
- My schedule changes a lot.
- I don't always have time for lots of clinic visits.

What would you want to know before starting a treatment like Biktarvy?

- What is it and how does it work?
- How would I take it?
- How often would I take it?
- What do I need to do before starting?
- What should I expect in the first few weeks?
- What support is available?
- I don't know where to start – I just want to learn the basics.

I AM ALREADY ON TREATMENT

What's making you consider a different treatment option?

- I have been on my current treatment for a long time.
- My schedule changes a lot, so I don't have time for a lot of clinic visits.
- I've heard about Biktarvy and want to know more.

What would you want to ask before switching to a treatment like Biktarvy?

- How is Biktarvy different from my current treatment?
- What would the transition look like?
- What would I need to do before or after switching?
- How would I take it?
- How often would I take it?
- What should I expect in the first few weeks?
- What support is available?
- I just want to know more about Biktarvy.
